THE COUNTY SYSTEM

It would be difficult for us to make a more intelligent comment on the County Act than has been made by Mr. Tesky in his column "I've Been Thinking." Perhaps the most that can be done is to underline some of his statements and add a comment or two.

If the county act has been "sold" to the public on any basis at all, it has been sold on the basis of "one tax setting authority," one authority which has the power to set requirements for municipal, school and hospital purposes. From this the natural inference would be "greater economy" and from "greater economy" the ratepayer naturally has a feeling that a lower mill rate is in prospect.

The same suggestion was heralded in the larger Municipal Districts and the School Divisions, but experience has in both cases shown that mill rates went up instead of down.

When questioned recently at the Refresher Course held in Edmonton, Mr. Gerhart "agreed" that taxes would be neither raised nor lowered under the new setup.

This leaves us in a position where we must decide whether, as our taxes remain their present level or go higher, we may have a chance of getting more for the money we are now spending. This is something that should definitely be made clear not only to the Municipal council, but also to the boards of the Hospital and School Division, and more particularly to all the ratepayers who eventually will have to foot the bill, and either benefit or lose by the change.

Regarding the beneficial results which have accrued to the ratepayers through the enlarged Municipal Districts and the School Divisions, we find ourselves in a position where it is very hard to come to a satisfactory conclusion. In the first place we have no idea in what situation we would have been had the old order remained, and in the second place, conditions have changed so vastly since the local boards and local councils operated that it is almost impossible to draw a parallel. The benefit of the school division has been increased by the arrival of conditions which were quite remote and perhaps even unexpected when the small school districts were dissolved. Our overall prosperity has greatly increased, changing the picture from one where the most stringent economy was required to a situation where progress, even at greatly added cost, was the order of the day. This same situation has had a marked effect on the municipal councils and their business.

The above feature, coupled with the teacher shortage and great increases in "teachers' salaries, together with a distinct lowering in school population in many areas, has brought about a situation which is being solved by centralization, which would not have been feasible under the old setup.

In the case of the Municipalities, it was felt that by reducing the number of individual offices, the administration costs could be reduced, and moreover the need for duplication of road making and maintaining equipment would be eliminated by the larger area.

In both these cases we have the administrative area being increased, and the number of administrators, at least those with any real authority, being reduced.

These changes added greatly to the burden borne by the individual administrators, and in particular in the case of the Municipality, made the job of councillor a most arduous one.

In the proposed setup there will be no material change in area, other than the making of the school district and hospital district contiguous with the municipal district. From this we can gather that the load on the councillors will be increased proportionately as they assume added duties, with the result that their present onerous burden may well become unbearable.

The offered solution to this part of the problem appears to be the staffing of each unit with experts, who would look after the details of management of road-building, school and hospital administration. With this, one must to a large extent agree. We have for a long time, felt that the hiring of a qualified road engineer would have been profitable to the Municipal district, in that it would have lifted from the individual councillors the responsibility of road supervision, and likely have resulted in more efficient work on the part of the contractors who have from time to time been hired by the Municipality. The government now provides the services of such an expert in connection with the affairs of the School Division in the person of the Superintendent. However just what the connection is between the hiring of qualified experts and the institution of the county system is hard to see. The area served would be the same while the officials were engaged under one administration or more, and the number of "experts" would remain the same, as it is hardly to be expected that one expert would be called upon to look after municipal, school and hospital business.

Let us not fall into the error of supposing that it is of great importance whether any particular officials or council or board members remain in or are removed from their present offices, other than in regard to the amount of constructive effort and industry they put into their respective jobs. This is not the point under question. The point is whether or not we will enjoy more and better services in all quarters under the new setup, which, as has been indicated, is very unlikely to cost us less, and may even cost us more.

Having for many years served in public offices we realize that the public is not always right, but we still feel that they should be given the privilege of making their own mistakes, and deciding on their own fate to as large an extent as is possible, and that full and free discussions of all proposals should not only be invited, but insisted upon by public servants, whether they be town, village, school, hospital or municipal.

With this in view we would urge that before any steps are taken to definitely establish a county system in this area, ample opportunity be provided for all interested to not only take part in public discussion of the matter, but, should it appear that there is opposition, a plebiscite be taken.

THANKSGIVING DAY

With a large part of our wheat yet in the fields, and the weather still maintaining a treacherous attitude, it was perhaps a little hard for many to work up the usual feeling of appreciation which typifies Thanksgiving Day. Fortunately the most desirable possessions are not merely the material things with which we try to surround ourselves. The blessings with which we would be most loathe to part are in the long run are the things of mind and spirit, the association of family and friends, the freedom of thought and action which we enjoy to so great measure. And even our living conditions, unfavorable as from time to time they may become, are of such a nature as to be the subject of envy for more than half the peoples of the world.

The Condition Of The Job

The steadily growing demand for a forty-hour week doesn't seem to be based on any sound argument that a very-debatable "me too!"

No one can argue that a forty-four hour week is a tyranny, or that the present-day worker is exhausting himself with such effort. Recently we saw no fewer than eight men sitting calmly on the side of an excavated trench. They sat there for better than an hour, in the middle of the day, and at full wages. We are not blaming them. We suspect that they were waiting for some necessity of their job to be supplied, as must happen very frequently. We are merely suggesting that, while they may have been bored, they were certainly not being exhausted by their effort.

As a matter of fact we doubt very much—and the doubt is based on the evidence of a good many workers—whether the majority of workers are very much interested in the 40-hour week. They would most likely be paid for an added four hours. Of course, if they are paid a 44-hour scale for a 40-hour week, human nature being what it is, they are likely to accept it. It would seem that the 40-hour week was just a bright thought of certain labor leaders who needed something else to demand, having already reached the limit of wage demands. The pathetic propaganda of the worker shut out from the companionship of his family is a rather doubtful argument. Given a choice, we suspect that most men would be willing to settle for a half a day and more pay. But the leaders have realized that

Plan Shorter Link With Alaska Road

Road construction crews are making good progress in Alberta, according to reports received by the Alberta Motor Association. Weather conditions are suitable for road work, both in respect to travelling and hard work. Also, considerable grading is under way.

The provincial authorities also are looking forward to next year's projects. It appears that these will include work on a new 34-mile "cut-off" road from Whitecourt, 125 miles west of Edmonton to Valleyview on the road from High Prairie to Grande Prairie.

Surveys are to be undertaken shortly and clearing is planned for this winter to get things in readiness for spring grading.

This highway, it is claimed, will give a shorter link with the Alaska highway at Dawson Creek and thus, is important from a defence standpoint.

Need of a first-class road from Edmonton to Dawson Creek has been urged by various bodies, the latest being the Canadian Chamber of Commerce which held its annual meeting recently in Banff.

For the second time in a row, Canada's federal government and provinces have met with something guardedly described as success.

This news, while it came to the capital from Quebec city this week, was hailed here as a triumph of compromise. Dominion-provincial conferences once had a reputation of turning into insoluble squabbles.

The last Dominion-provincial conference accomplished only a basis for discussion when it was held in Ottawa last January. Yet, because of the previous pattern of such conferences, this was regarded as a victory for all concerned.

Quebec's conference, held at the ancient provincial capital on the invitation of Premier Maurice Duplessis, had been viewed by many observers as a potential stalemate. Yet it concluded on a happy note after four days, with a promise that it would be resumed in Ottawa fairly soon.

The conference was continuing an effort applauded by all 11 governments to break away from the constitutional ties with the United Kingdom, and to place Canada's constitution on purely Canadian foundations.

While this effort was applauded by all, there were many points of contention as to which parts of the constitution should be amended by the provinces, which by the federal government, and which by some sort of compromise. It was the details of strict self-government that were being jealously guarded.

Agree On Principle

Apparently, the men at Quebec this week still felt that the importance of a purely Canadian constitution, with no U.K. ties, was important enough a principle at least to make it worth while trying. At Quebec, they passed another milestone.

In a prepared statement which followed the conference, the governments reported that they had made substantial progress towards agreement on a number of giving Canada complete power over her own constitution. They also agreed to meet again in Ottawa, and to continue their negotiations in the meantime.

This was definite progress, although it may not have seemed like much to Canadians to whom constitutional matters shape up as rather uninteresting news.

Much of the Quebec meeting was held in private, but the final statement, read by Prime Minister St. Laurent at an open meeting in the Quebec legislative assembly, said:

"Important sections of the constitution involving what are considered fundamental and basic rights of the provinces were studied at length and considerable progress towards agreement has been made. Various formulas for amendment (of the constitution) were submitted while, while having in view the safeguarding of these basic rights, would ensure adequate flexibility in the constitution."

St. Laurent publicly thanked Premier Duplessis for his hospitality and the delegates from "O Canada" and "God Save The King" at the end.

In his parting statement, the prime minister said all delegates had shown they are sincerely desirous of arriving at the goal of setting in Canada plans that are of Canadian concern.

Shoots 23 Lions On African Trip

CAPTOWN — One of Europe's big great big game hunters, Lucien Edmond Quinquens-Chassayot, was arrived here from central Africa after a seven-month hunting trip. He bagged 23 lions, 24 elephants, 160 leopards, 400 buffalo and 5,000 buck.

Mr. Chassayot, a champagne dealer from Rheims, has his own private zoo, which includes about 2,000 varieties of snakes. He has turned down an American offer for the zoo of about $50,000.

Veterinary Services Staff Increased

Honourable D. A. Ure, Minister of Agriculture, has announced the appointment of Dr. G. K. Weir to the position of micro-pathologist at the Alberta Veterinary Laboratory. The appointment of Dr. Weir to the staff will further round out the Laboratory service, as the study of specially stained tissues is of basic importance in diagnosing animal and poultry diseases. Dr. Weir was born in Aberdeen, Saskatchewan, and after receiving his public and high school education in that Province, attended the Ontario Veterinary College of the University of Toronto, from which he graduated in 1948. Following graduation he engaged in veterinary practice at Aberdeen for one year before coming to Alberta. Dr. Weir had already assumed his duties with the Veterinary Services Branch.

GARDINER GIVES ADVICE ON GRAIN CROP

While farmers around Guelph, Ont., told Hon. James Gardiner, minister of agriculture, of the best grain crop in the past 20 years, he told them what to do with it and with the surplus feed grains of the provinces. "Turn it into pork," was Mr. Gardiner's advice. He is shown with R. W. Hannam, left, and D. G. MacKinnon, two farmers of the Guelph area.

New Regulations Re: Poultry Imports

The Province of Alberta has legislation now dealing with the importing of poultry and poultry products from provinces in which there is an outbreak of Newcastle Disease. In short the legislation prohibits the importation of any poultry or Poultry products from the Province of British Columbia or any other province which has an outbreak of the disease unless the importer obtains a permit from the Director of Veterinary Services of the Province of Alberta.

Permits will be granted for import of birds that have a certificate of health from any Dominion Health of Animals Inspector. However poultry from N.C. must pass a serum neutralization or H.I. test and not be within 25 miles of flocks known to have Newcastle Disease.

For birds such as Canaries, budgerigars etc. not for resale are exempt from the regulations.

Application forms for import of poultry and poultry products may be obtained at this office. Information on how to treat water to remove impurities and bacterial contamination are dealt with in the booklet. Also how to construct filters for dugouts and rain water.

Bulletins are available to anyone desiring same.

Wild Oat Control

Wild oats is one of Alberta's most troublesome weeds and one of the most difficult to eradicate or control. Usually fall cultivation is recommended as one of the best control measures. The cultivation, however, should not take place immediately after harvest, time should be allowed to give the seeds which have fallen to the ground a chance to dry out. This drying or "after ripening" as it is called, is necessary before seeds will germinate. If the seed is buried before this process takes place germination will be delayed possibly as much as a year or more and good control will be impossible. Fields should be cultivated usually just before freeze-up in the fall. With this treatment most of the seeds will either germinate in the fall and be killed by the frost or will germinate first thing in the spring and can be killed by pre-seeding cultivation.

Facts And Fallacies About Aluminum Utensils

Aluminum has many characteristics that make it an ideal material for cooking utensils.

First, and perhaps most important, it is a superior conductor of heat. In the modern method of cooking foods on the surface units of a range, a minimum of water is used. Consequently valuable minerals and vitamins are not poured down the sink drain. There is less danger of food sticking when so little water is used if the utensil material is a good conductor. Heat does not concentrate on the bottom of the pot or pan but spreads quickly and evenly over the entire surface and the food cooks rapidly and uniformly without burning. There are no hot spots and usually stirring is not required. That is the reason aluminum cooking utensils have become so popular with homemakers.

Read this column next week for the next exciting chapter on aluminum.

The answer to last week's question is: Almost certainly the trouble is that the pressure on the material is too heavy. This will occur more often with flimsy material where the pressure on the pressure foot is too heavy for fine material. Adjust the pressure by means of the screw on the top of the machine.

Next week's question: Can a specific dye be applied to all fibres?

When John Jones took his hunting dog out in the fields to show him off to several strangers, to his amazement the dog pointed at one of them. "He's smarter than you think," said the man, "My name is Partridge."

CUB
NOTES

Dear Citizens:
This is to let you know that we are still a flourishing group in the community. Last year we had a very successful season and this coming year we have plans for enterprise and group association encompassing even higher achievement. Summarizing briefly the activities of the summer months and I am pleased to note the general calibre of excellent endeavor on the part of our boys and our citizens, especially Mr. Davidson, Mr. Maddox, Mr. Granke, Cpl. Pound and Bud Leggett who so graciously offered time and transportation in our excursion to the river.
This more than anything else kept the interest, which very often lags during summer vacation, alive and the boys certainly were enthusiastic. To illustrate the degree of enthusiasm I might say at this point that five of our boys won their proficiency badges in swimming.
These same will be awarded on completion of certain other requirements respecting first star work.
In general, the summer months proved the success in co-operation achieved by those who work together in common aim and purpose. George Davis also volunteered to take a bus load to the river.

On beginning the fall term, we noted that our Cub group stood at 30 members of which six boys had obtained their first star. Five boys their Tenderpaws and the rest newly joined, known as New Cubs. The general enthusiasm, I believe, could be lifted somewhat if each boy had all or part of the required Cub uniform. Let's try hard fellows! At our meeting of organization we divided our group into sixes, each with a leader responsible for the group. So far we have done well in the beginning of our new team work and our group promises to be bigger and better this year. At this point, looking into the future—I wish to remind everyone of our annual Apple Day which, this year falls on Saturday, October 21. I appeal to all to support the boys who will be selling apples at the house in the morning and on the streets in the afternoon. Let us help these boys to build their group and enjoy it. Last year the citizens responded admirably and we know you shall again. We have a new Cub leader, Mr. J. Taylor who has had a great deal of experience in Cub-cadet work.

One scout group which you will remember we started last spring, has some very enthusiastic members—but all too few. We know that there are a number of boys of Scout age which do not belong to any club and would respond to such an organization as ours. Let us increase for the cause of good scouting in our community.
Our programme is expanding and a valuable training for young boys. Such items as semaphore training, Morse code, woodcraft, outdoor sports to mention a few. Let us get behind this boy and make it a big success.
This is going to be, I feel assured, an expansive year for us all—both scouts and cuba, and therefore on behalf of the executive and the leaders and the parents let us remember the scout motto of our pack and troop and be true to it and that motto is this: "Be prepared at all times"—that our group may be bigger and better this year and in the years to come.

Sincerely yours,

"HAGHERA"

Industrial physicians state that well-ventilated workrooms pay for themselves in increased production. Good accurate work becomes difficult unless air is kept moving to prevent it from becoming stagnant and oppressive.

now and a Dominion-provincial fiscal conference called for November, but it is not clear in what direction their efforts can be drawn.

The stepped-up tempo of government today will be swayed by the fortunes of Korea, prospects of an in-activation of preparedness in Europe and elsewhere, and domestic problems.

One of the main domestic problems which may or may not be brought to a head almost any day, is that of rising prices controls. What could bring it to a head would be any United States action to combat the rising cost of living.

Source in Ottawa says that if President Truman takes definite steps—controls—over rising prices, Canada will have to follow suit, if only to prevent U.S. businessmen from coming across the border to evade American-imposed restrictions.

Added Controls. Meanwhile, Canada instituted this week its heaviest peacetime controls in history and launched a campaign to cut the flow of certain strategic items into the U.S.

The controls, announced by Trade Minister Howe, will help block the movement of war goods into Communist countries and make it easier for domestic defence equipment producers

Save The Best For Seed

A. M. Wilson, Alberta's Field Crops Commissioner, points out that saving seed from the best locations is good practice at any time. In years like this when frost is known to have caused considerable damage to the germination of grains, care in seed selection is particularly important. Oats of seed quality will be short in many sections of northern and eastern Alberta this year. Farmers who harvest good fields of oats that appear suitable for seed will serve their neighbors and themselves to advantage by storing these oats in separate bins and holding them to help supply the demand for seed.

The only sure way of knowing whether or not grain will grow is to have a germination test made, says Mr. Wilson. This service is available from the Plant Products Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Calgary, or elevator agents may be able to supply a similar service if requested. There is just one point here—there will be hundreds of farmers having grain tested for germination and it is suggested that samples for testing be sent in as soon as possible. If you wait until the rush season starts the results may be held up for some time.

Oats for seed will be in short supply. If you have a good crop, keep in mind there are a number of farmers in Alberta who will be looking for seed before spring.

Weed Order

The Noxious Weeds Act is set out to provide a certain protection to the Agricultural Industry of Alberta. Also to protect a weed conscious farmer from his neighbor who is less well conscious and may negligently permit his weed seeds to spread onto neighboring lands. When an Inspector issues an order to destroy certain weeds on a certain piece of land as designated in the notice, the party receiving the notice is by law required to carry out such orders. The Act also provides penalties for anybody in default of the Weed

Act, being section 55 which reads as follows: "Every person who makes default in complying with any of the lawful requirements set out in any notice given by an Inspector pursuant to this Act shall be guilty of an offence and liable on summary conviction to a penalty of not less than five dollars and not more than fifty dollars together with costs, or in default of payment to a period of imprisonment of not more than thirty days."

I found it necessary this season to take action against one farmer in the Municipal District of Wainwright. He was convicted and fined $20.00 and court costs amounting to $5.00 for refusing to carry out and order imposed upon him by myself. In the future, any farmer refusing to act upon an official notice in my district will be dealt with in the same manner.

FILM CIRCUIT

A meeting of representatives from communities receiving film showings last winter is to be held in Wainwright Saturday, October 14th at 1:30 p.m. in the Town Hall. Anybody wishing to attend besides the chosen representatives will be welcome. The more who attend the better to iron up the discussions. Mr. Bell of the National Film Board will be in attendance to discuss their side of the picture, and also to offer a much more satisfactory system of circulating films in the district than previous. Your support in assisting us to provide a more permanent educational and social program among the rural folk will be appreciated. To some

SPORTS CAMERA

Probably no fighter in modern times has had a tougher row to hoe than that little acre taken over by one Edward Charles of Cincinnati, O., who in June of 1949 became heavyweight boxing champion in all territory under jurisdiction of the National Boxing Association.

Mild spoken this man had the misfortune to come to the fore on the retirement of Joe Louis, Detroit, Mich., who since 1936 had built up quite a chapter of Americana. To millions in the U.S. and elsewhere, Louis, the Brown Bomber, had come from Alabama cotton fields; had struggled that long road to the top of the heavyweight flinty ladder; and become the nominee of thousands for the role as the greatest of them all.

In stepped Charles, though; he had been around for some time. He beat Jersey Joe Walcott in a match for the vacated N.B.A. title. It was actually only a portion of the crown relinquished by choice by Louis. New York State, the heavy-sugared region for pugilists, didn't recognize the match as a world title fight. So Charles was champion in part, and not the part he wished.

Recently Charles met the man who, more than anyone else, was the cause of the hollowness in his win over Walcott. Charles took on Joe Louis.

Few heavyweight title fights had been harder to figure. Louis was 48 but his past record seemed sufficient for the wisecracks to install him as the favorite. While no other heavyweight boxing champion in history had ever lost his title and come back to regain it, Louis was the gent elected to turn the test for the first time.

Courageous Fighter

Charles thus fractured a piece of Americana, when he decisively defeated the aging Brown Bomber in 15 rounds. And as he knew he'd have to, Charles did it in a way to gain as much regard from the fans as possible. He didn't run; he carried the fight to his older opponent all the way and never gave Louis the chance to line up one of his well-known K.O. punches.

Some of the thrill Charles lost when random denied him world superiority in his weight division must have been regained with his win over Louis. But the battle isn't over. For some reason, the authorities feel Charles should meet a man he's already knocked out—Freddie Beahore. Charles defeated Beahore just a short time ago in Buffalo, N.Y.

And too, overseas, England has elected Lee Savold, an American, as her version of a heavyweight champion on the strength of his "world" title victory over England's Bruce Woodcock. No Charles and his manager will be trying to line a bout up there too. However, a matter of money may stand in the way of such a meeting. Neither Charles nor Savold wish to take the challenger's end of the purse—"we're both champions, after all."

Such is the chore of a heavyweight fighter whose cardinal wish is to turn over in bed one morning and say: "At last, people the world over regard me as world's heavyweight champion." Any other challengers, please?

Small Betty—I found a horseshoe this morning.
Mother—Do you know what that means?
Small Betty—Yes, it means that some horse is running around in his stocking feet.

CHEVROLET

The Leader

GIVES YOU MORE AND COSTS YOU LESS

LOW FIRST COST

Hard facts, not fancy phrases, determine any car's value. Study the market carefully, feature by feature and value by value. Then compare the Chevrolet price tag with that of any comparable car. You'll find beyond doubt that this impressive, powerful, six-passenger automobile is the value-leader by far!

ECONOMICAL OPERATION

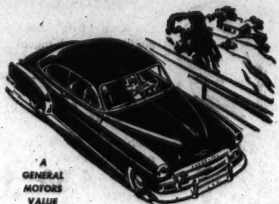

For all the power you want when you want it, with consistently economical fuel consumption, there's no better engine than the highly-improved Chevrolet valve-in-head, with its ultra-efficient new carburetor. And that's not all! Many thousands of enthusiastic owners will testify that Chevrolet needs less maintenance, less servicing than any comparable car.

BRILLIANT PERFORMANCE

Just get behind the wheel of a Chevrolet, and you'll soon know the meaning of brilliant performance. In city traffic, on busy highways, on rough back roads, Chevrolet has the edge on all its rivals. And it stays at the peak of its performance—mile after mile, month after month.

GREATER ROOMINESS

There's hip-room, head-room, leg-room and room to spare for six adult passengers in a Chevrolet. The big doors swing wide to let you in and out without undue stooping or crouching. And the bigger, more capacious trunk has ample room for all your luggage—and your passengers, too!

MOTOR

COMPLETE DEPENDABILITY

Built for Canadian driving requirements, reflecting its superior craftsmanship in every detail, Chevrolet is further backed by a nationwide organization of skilled service and maintenance specialists. No wonder it is renowned for delivering dependable, trouble-free performance under all conditions!

• It's best in its class for styling, for performance, for comfort and for operating economies — yet it costs far less than any comparable car. That's why Chevrolet is first in value!

Let the record speak for itself! In a recent impartial survey conducted among thousands of motorists, Chevrolet proved to be in greater popular demand than any other car.

No wonder Canadians buy more Chevrolets than any other make of car. They know that Chevrolet, built and proved in Canada for Canadians, is unequalled at its price for comfort, safety, lasting beauty and all-round dependability.

HIGH REPUTATION

Here's convincing proof that throughout years, Chevrolet has earned a reputation for unwavering excellence! In a recently conducted coast-to-coast survey, an overwhelming majority of motorists named Reputation as the most compelling reason for Chevrolet's popularity.

MODERN STYLING

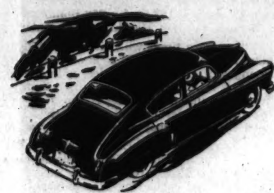

In every detail, the new Chevrolet is in the very forefront of the style parade. Those flowing, graceful lines radiate quality from every angle. And don't forget — its consistently advanced styling is one reason why Chevrolet is tops for trade-in value.

GREATER SAFETY

From the blueprint stage onward, built-in safety factors are an integral component of every Chevrolet. The immensely strong box girder steel frame... the exclusive Certi-Safe hydraulic brakes for quick, controlled stopping... the ample reserve of power in the valve-in-head engine—all these and many other Chevrolet features are designed for your protection.

HIGH TRADE-IN-VALUE

Records prove that used car buyers as well as new car buyers consistently favor Chevrolet over other cars. That's because Chevrolet is first in the low-price field with all the qualities of much higher priced cars, and also because it's renowned for dependable, year-in, year-out performance.

myself. The vast majority of Albertans are now ready to admit the wisdom of the government's action on that occasion. We are naturally a conservative people and dislike change, but change we must have if we are to progress, and frequently the changes must be forced upon us. So long as the people retain the ultimate authority to reject the change when the experiment has failed, we have little to worry about. And if the county system proves a failure, we may either reject it a few years hence or even defeat the government that forced it upon us.

I think that experimentation is very desirable and essential, and that only after all possible precautions have been taken to ensure that the results shall be conclusive. Therefore the proposed County Act should be carefully examined to remove all possible defects before it is put into effect. Otherwise a very desirable change may be discarded and abandoned before it has been given a fair trial.

I have recently had the privilege of reading a copy of an address given by Hon. C. E. Gherhart, Minister of Municipal Affairs, to school trustees, superintendents, secretaries, teachers, etc., assembled at a Refresher Course in School Administration last June 7. This copy also contained an account of what transpired in the question period following the address. In his address the Minister dwelt at some length on the present operation of the educational authority and the tax collecting function. He produced no evidence that school boards ever had shown indifference to the tax payer, nor did he suggest that they ever had. His argument seemed a bit specious, but it was at least academically sound.

In the question period certain intentions of the Department, not contained in the Act, became apparent. Without appearing to criticize municipal councilors the Minister intimated that the business of constructing and maintaining roads had not been as efficiently supervised as was desirable. He suggested that in the county set-up the Council would be the policy-making body, and that the duties of putting the Council's wishes into effect would be done by experts. I think he referred to present municipal councilors as "chore boys". I do not like the term, but to some extent it is correct. In my opinion if a county could be wise and fortunate in its selection of a county manager make the county experiment succeed. And in the eyes of the people it will not succeed if taxes go up or services go down. The roads and other rural services will be maintained; teachers' salaries will not go down as that would result in an increased number of supervisors; hospital accommodation and services will almost certainly improve. Modern progress means an increase in public services, and necessitates increased expenditures of public money. The chief objection to the County Act should come from the towns and villages. Their school and hospitals will be run by the County Council on which they will have no representation. True, they probably will have representatives on the Education and Hospital committees. These persons will have an equal vote in recommending budgets, in deciding committee policy, and in spending the money; but they will have no voice in the making of by-laws or in the passing of budgets. This is a defect that must, and I am sure, will be removed if the counties are to function satisfactorily.

This may be a very convenient attitude to take as, to a great extent, it eliminates from heated discussion many vicious and contentious individuals who know little about the question at issue.

Personally, I see many disadvantages to the taking of a democratic course on a question such as this of the counties. Ever since I witnessed the late Mr. Aberhart "railroad" the large school units into existence over the opposition of what was, perhaps, majority opinion, I have felt that a little dictatorship is possibly a good thing among a people so ill equipped for democracy as ourselves. The vast majority of Albertans are now ready to admit the wisdom of the government's action on that occasion. Marion Fulgham Heads P.V. H.S. Students' Union Billy Johnson young son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Johnson had the misfortune to fall while playing at school and fractured his leg.

Miss Evelyn Wood who has spent the summer at Lake Louise is home for a few weeks with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wood before going on to Toronto where she will spend the winter.

We regret to hear that Miss Ester Klatt is a patient in the Lloydminster Hospital. The Klatt family have only recently moved to Paradise Valley from Viking.

Ronnie Conarroe who spent the last two weeks in the Lloydminster Hospital is back home and again attending school.

Mr. R. W. Copeland who has been acting agent at the local C.P.R. left on Thursday for Kayville, Sask., to take over the station at that point. Mr. Squires is the new man at this point.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lowen on the birth of a daughter on May 25th at the Lloydminster Hospital.

The organization meeting of the Paradise Valley High School Student's Union was held on October 2nd. The election of officers for the 1950-51 term resulted as follows: President, Marion Fulgham; Vice-Pres., Bill Swadick; Secretary, Joyce Adams; Treasurer, Kathleen Swadick; Librarian, Shirley Gunn. Quite a lot of excitement during the election of officers as the students were equally divided and nominated their candidates and the nominated ones were making a campaign speech. Some wonderful ideas were advanced by those offering office. However the Union is off to a good start for the school year.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Walter's have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Herb Wright and son Kenzie and Mr. and Mrs. W. Walter Sr. of Calgary. We are glad to see Mr. Walter Sr. back again much improved in health.

The W.A. of the United Church held their regular meeting in the basement of the church on Friday afternoon. Plans were discussed for the annual chicken supper due to the unseasonable weather and condition of the roads no date was set. The W.A. also made a donation to the British and Foreign Bible Society. Donations to Foreign Bible Society were very slowly and we would again remind all those who wish to give to leave their donations at the post office and receive an official receipt.

We wish to extend congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. James Stoddard on their recent marriage. The wedding took place at the United Church in Lloydminster on Thursday, October 5th with the Rev. B. N. Morrison performing the ceremony. Mrs. Stoddard before her marriage was Miss Sybil Lawrence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lawrence of Moyerton. The young couple will reside in town after their return from a honeymoon spent at Stettler and Calgary.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Art White of Fruitvale, B.C. on the birth of a son Garth Charles. We wonder if Art, better known as "Titch" will make a hockey player out of Garth.

We are sorry to hear that Mrs. Jack Warren is a patient in the Lloydminster Hospital.

The Neilburg Browns Pack has been reorganized and meetings are held each Monday evening at the Wilson home with Miss Pearl Wilson in charge.

Mrs. K. Vance and Mrs. R. Wilson were visitors to Lloydminster on Thursday.

We are sorry to hear that Mrs. MacCampbell is a patient at present in the Saskatoon City Hospital. We wish her a speedy recovery.

McLaughlin Girls' Club Meets At Home Of Mrs. Aalborg

Mrs. H. Plumb was hostess to a tea, on Sept. 28th in honor of Mrs. E. Plumb's birthday. An enjoyable time was had by the ladies present, especially at lunch time. A nicely decorated cake was also served with Mrs. Plumb cutting the first slice. I really do think there was a slight shortage of candles!

We are glad to see W. Parsons home from the hospital after his severe attack of blood poisoning. Louis Gabrielson is also a patient in the hospital, but is improving.

A regular meeting of the Girl's Club was held at the home of Mrs. A. Aalborg, Rivercourt, on Monday, Oct. 2. Due to the absence of the Pres. or Vice-Pres. Gladys Breen was in the chair. The name of the club was decided as the M & R Merry Maids Club. We began our course in Etiquette by a quiz. The next meeting is to be held at the home of Alice Bush, McLaughlin, on Oct. 17 when we will begin crocheting pot holders. Marilyn Cottrell moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Aalborg for the delicious lunch served.

A special meeting of the Club was held on Thursday, Sept. 28 at Allister School when Miss Morley, home economist from Vegreville, gave an interesting talk on Girls' Clubs. The girls received their project books "Meal-up-to-Date" and "Etiquette" and planned their year's work. Eleven members and five visitors were present.

This cold weather has surely caught a good many with their vegetables still in the garden, or partly there. I see Merlin digging in the snow and mud, getting his carrots in.

Mr. and Mrs. Kirkpatrick from Duncan, B.C. are visiting Mr. and Mrs. N. Gainsforth and Mr. and Mrs. Kirkpatrick at home in Vegreville. The girls are returning from a visit to their old home in Nova Scotia and other points east they will be remembered as "Lovers, having lived in the Oxville district before moving to B.C."

No other truck comes close to these 12 features you get in a GMC

Before you buy a new truck, study the chart above. It lists twelve important facts about the trucks offered by GMC and other makers in Canada. You'll find yourself drawing two main conclusions from it:

1. No matter what you want in a truck, GMC offers it . . . there's no need to look beyond GMC, for GMC and GMC alone offers every style, every capacity, every feature you can require.
2. You can't afford to buy any other make, if real truck value is what you're after! For time after time as you go through the list you'll find a feature you want—important to your profits or comfort or safety—that's offered by none of the other makers listed! No other maker offers more than 2 of the 12 features that the GMC line, up to and including the three ton, gives you.

GMC's many plus values help to explain why a GMC will give you years longer service—with lower maintenance cost. It's a real truck—built by the world's largest exclusive maker of commercial vehicles.

Your GMC dealer will be glad to show you the ruggedly handsome new 1950 models—in a wide range of types and sizes to fill every need. Measured in years of extra service, a GMC is your most economical buy.

Annual Campaign For Blind Underway

The annual rural campaign for funds of The Canadian National Institute for the Blind officially opened throughout Northern and Central Alberta on October 1st and will continue for the month.

In making this announcement officials of the C.N.I.B. point out that the campaign is being conducted only in the rural districts because, in Edmonton, the C.N.I.B. is a member of the Community Chest.

In its rural campaign the C.N.I.B. is appealing to the citizens of Northern Alberta for $20,000.00. This amount is needed to meet the increasing demands upon its services and facilities. It must be achieved in order to maintain the present level of essential services for the blind and to carry on the existing prevention of blindness programs. Every person in Northern Alberta is urged to support this important work.

For the month volunteer canvassers will be at work in most communities of Northern and Central Alberta. These men and women will be donating their time and energy in an effort to make this campaign successful. Please do your part by responding generously when they call or by mailing your donation direct to The Canadian National Institute for the Blind, 1910 Jasper Avenue, Edmonton. Receipts for income tax purposes will be issued.

Press Campaign For $10 License Fee

Strong demands are being removed by the Alberta Motor Association in seeking a reduction of the motor plate license fee to at least $10 in Ontario.

President H. R. Chauncey, of the A.M.A. is leading the movement to bring about lower license fees. It is apparent that the campaign will be fully maintained in the hope that it will at last be crowned with success.

Officials point out that Alberta with more than $50,000,000 of "found" money from the disposal of oil rights, is in a position to ease the motorists' tax burden, after many years.

They say Alberta motor car owners have every reason to press their insistent demands for lower motor license fees. Too long has Alberta been in the unenviable position of having the highest license fees in the dominion.

While members of the provincial cabinet were reported to have given a car license cut "sympathetic consideration" this year, the A.M.A. will not be satisfied until there is positive action to effect a substantial reduction.

SOUP'S ON

Once the first frost has nipped the garden and the calendar shows that October is here, the family will appreciate hot, satisfying soup for supper.

Soups using milk are one excellent way of adding extra milk to the diet of those adults who would not otherwise get their daily quota. If the cream soup has vegetables, this too helps in getting both children and adults to eat an extra portion of vegetables.

Thick chowder-type soups are an excellent hot supper dish for early fall days. Here are several recipes recommended by the home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture.

Corn Chowder
1/4 cup chopped onion
3 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup cubed, cooked potatoes
1 cup canned corn
4 cups liquid (water drained from potatoes and milk)
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
Chopped parsley

Cook onion in butter until onions are slightly browned. Blend in flour. Add potatoes, corn, milk and potato water. Season with salt and pepper. Cook 5 to 6 minutes. Sprinkle with chopped parsley before serving. Yield: six servings.

Cheese And Onion Cream Soup
Melt butter, add sliced onions and cook over direct heat, stirring constantly, until clear, about 5 minutes. Place over hot water, stir in flour and blend well. Add milk gradually and continue cooking, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add salt, pepper and grated cheese stirring until cheese is melted. Garnish with chopped parsley before serving. Yield: six servings.

Pea Chowder
2 tablespoons fat
1 medium onion, 1/4 cup minced
1 1/2 cups boiling water
1 20-oz. can peas
2 cups sliced raw potato
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon paprika
1/4 teaspoon celery salt
1 tablespoon flour
1 tablespoon melted fat
2 cups hot milk

Melt fat in soup kettle, add onion and cook 5 minutes without browning. Add boiling water and liquid from peas. Bring to boil and add potatoes. Add seasonings. Boil 5 minutes, add peas and cook until potatoes are tender, about 10 minutes. Mix flour with melted fat, blend in hot milk. Add to vegetable and cook 2 minutes longer or until slightly thickened. Three slices of crisp bacon, cut in pieces or two or three cooked sausages or wieners, sliced, may be added, if desired. Yield: six servings.

NEWFOUNDLAND RIVERS SURVEYED BY EXPERTS

The object of the survey was to obtain information on the obstructions common in salmon rivers particularly in the Terra Nova and Upper Humber areas. It is expected some work will be taken next spring to remove these obstructions.

Alberta's 1950 Honey Production Below Average

Alberta's honey production this year is estimated at 5,000,000 pounds. Compared with last year's crop, which was considered average, the 1950 production shows a drop of 17%.

W. G. LeMaistre, Alberta's Provincial Apiarist, says that the chief reason for the drop in production is the lower number of hives being operated. Only 48,000 colonies went into production this summer against 56,000 in 1949 and nearly 80,000 during the peak years of world war II.

The reappearance on the market of competitive foods in abundance and the low price received for honey has discouraged many producers, says Mr. LeMaistre. This is particularly true of the southern beekeepers. Cost of producing honey have been rising while the price has declined.

Some wide variations in the honey yields from different districts are apparent. Mr. LeMaistre attributes this to the scattered nature of the summer rainfall. Hot weather produced a good flow of nectar from the various clover plants, but in areas where there was only limited rainfall the bloom was short-lived and the honey flow ended abruptly.

In all, the average yield of honey per hive is estimated at 112 pounds, which is somewhat above normal for Alberta.

Water Diviner Mystifies Self

OWEN SOUND, Ont. — David Porter, 66, of nearby Warton, says he has found himself in a peculiar position by his strange gift of water-witching.

He discovered accidentally, at 16, that he possessed the power of detecting underground water sources. He picked up a forked branch that another water-diviner had dropped and found that it twisted in his hands over a high water supply.

Until he retired recently, he ran a general store in the district community of Owen Sound. At his home there, he had a well reputed one of the best in the region and it was found through his water-divining skill.

He says he can not only find water but also is able to estimate how far it is below the earth's surface and whether it is flowing or standing. He also says that in place of the traditional forked twig he can use a bent wire or two sticks pointed downward so that their ends meet.

"What causes the downward pull on the twig is as much a mystery to me as to anyone else," he told an interviewer. "The youngest and the eldest of my four sons also have the gift but the other two boys and my three daughters show no signs of it at all."

Harvest Services in all places are postponed until such time as most of the harvest has been gathered in.

An important preliminary notice. In connection with this year of anniversary of the coming of the first Church of England to Alberta, our Bishop has directed that in each parish there is to be a service of witness with a series of mission services, with all points in each parish joining together for the occasion. Our services will be held on Sunday, October 22nd and the Monday and Tuesday following. We have been fortunate in obtaining as our visiting preacher the Reverend Canon C. E. F. Wolff, Rector of St. Stephen's Edmonton. There will be no services at the outside points on that Sunday, all who attend our services and value the opportunities of worship afforded are asked to come to the service which will be held in the Legion Hall, Edgerton at 7:30 p.m. The Hall seats at least 250; let us see that it is full.

Urges Independence For Young Couples

OAKVILLE, Ont. — A formula for a long and happy marriage was given by a couple who have just celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary.

"Marry young and live alone, even if it's only one room," said Christopher Leamen who, with his wife, held a big family reunion to celebrate the event. In attendance were seven children, 25 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Mr. Leamen met his wife when she was 16 and married her when she reached 18. At that time they were able to rent a flat for $4 a month. His salary was $7 a week, but 25 cents bought a three-pound sirloin steak and chickens sold for 30 cents, he recalled. Overcrowded living conditions, and the high cost of living are the reasons for the high divorce rate today, Mr. Leamen believes.
